The suit shown is very simple, but for that reason will appeal to many. The material used is heavy white linen. The simple blouse has kimono sleeves, which fit the arm quite snugly below the elbow, and are decorated with buttons and embroidered motifs. The bodice fastens on the left, with these crocheted buttons, and the skirt closing follows the same line to the hem. For the motifs of embroidery

Fabric hats are the very newest French notion, and particularly comfortable are these soft hats which may be pulled down over the hair when the wind blows. A smart fabric turban, made of bright scarlet serge, is shown here, and as will be seen, the material is heavily stitched to give it body and form. The crown is rather high and in turn is under a strapping of silk braid—also bright red. There is a band of black velvet around the base of the pleated crown, which gives smartness to the bright red model.

EVENING CHAT
BY RUTH CAMERON.

How much this or that cost—what this one is earning, and how much that one is making.

You realize how large a part, how alarmingly large a part, these subjects and similar ones make of our daily conversations?

I sat alone at dinner in a restaurant the other evening, the talk of the people at the table behind me came unavoidably to me.

Unconsciously an unkind remark was made, but for the most part the fragments that broke upon my ears were something like this:

"Did you know the Mrs. new limousine cost a pretty penny of $5,000?"

"That's nothing, Charley N. is going to have a racer built especially for him, and it's going to cost $7,500."

"When his father allows him $20 just to run the car, I think it's absurd to think he can't do it on that."

"But then, they say, it isn't the gasoline or even the repairs that cost so much in running a motor, as it is the entertaining of all the friends that a-taking people motoring entails."

"Lovely gown? Well, no, I don't fancy it particularly. That trimming looks awfully expensive, but I saw some in a window and I priced it, and it only cost about a dollar a yard."

"—and they say he is making $10,000 a year. You see, he went into business for himself, that's the place for brains, I think."

On the way to my home, in the trolley, I sat in front of two women who were arguing as to whether it cost more to have one's gowns made or buy them ready-made. Each was trying to prove her side of the question by numerous price citations from her own wardrobe.

I walked up the street with an old resident of the neighborhood, who had come back to make a call. As we passed the house where my neighbor lives, "Yes, sir, he did—a cool twenty thousand for that horse the minute he went under the wire," floated out to us.

I went on to an open field near my house. In the corner of it a little plaster bungalow has just been put up. The old denizen regarded it with interest.

"Yes, I ran on in explanation, 'Mr. C. put it up for his daughter. She was married last fall. You don't know it? Yes, a bank clerk in her father's bank. Artistic little place, isn't it?' And then, with entire unconsciousness, 'But what do you think it cost? $4,000. Isn't that terrific for such a little place?'"

The old denizen of the neighborhood passed on down a side street. He didn't look back. It was lucky that he didn't, for if he had he would have surely thought me insane. For the consciousness of my own contribution to the chorus that had irritated me so all the evening, I was laughing aloud to myself and saying:

"Et tu, Ruthie."

Perhaps you think I'm exaggerating or fabricating a bit.

I would attempt to exonerate myself. Instead, I'll just ask you to watch your friends' and your own conversation for a day or two for such references, and I'll be willing to let that talk exonerate me.

Should one never talk of prices and wages and costs and values? Yes, but never and perpetually are a long ways apart, and between them lies a golden mean.

It seems to me that the tendency to measure success almost entirely by a financial standard is one of the worst disease spots of our twentieth century life.

Our perpetual talk of money is one of the symptoms of this disease. I don't suppose you can cure a

We Will Prove at Our Own Expense That It Is No Longer Necessary to Be Thin, Scrawny, and Undeveloped.

"Gee! Look at that pair of skinny scarecrows! Why don't they try Sargol?"

This is a generous offer to every thin man or woman in Topeka and vicinity. We positively guarantee to increase your weight to your own satisfaction or no pay. Think this over—think what it means. At our own risk, we offer to put 10, yes, 20 pounds of good, solid "stay there" flesh on your bones, to fill out hollows in cheeks, neck or bust, to get rid of that "peaked" look, to rejuvenate and revitalize your whole body until it tingles with vibrant energy, to do this without drastic diet, "stunts," detention from business or any like requirements—if we fail it costs you nothing.

We particularly wish to hear from the excessively thin, those who know the humiliation and embarrassment which only skinny people have to suffer in silence. We want to send a free 50-cent package of our new discovery to the people who are called "slats" and "bean poles," to bony women, whose clothes never look "anyhow," no matter how expensively dressed, to the skinny men who fail to gain social or business recognition on account of their starved appearance. We care not whether you have been thin from birth, whether you have lost weight through sickness, how many flesh builders you have experimented with. We take the chance it is healthy. If we cannot put pounds and pounds of healthy flesh on your frame we don't want your money.

The new treatment increases the red corpuscles in the blood, strengthens the nerves and puts the digestive tract into such shape that the food is assimilated and turned into good, solid, healthy flesh instead of passing through the system undigested and unassimilated. It is a thoroughly scientific principle, this Sargol, and builds up the thin weak and debilitated without any nauseous dosing. In many conditions it is better than cod liver oil and certainly much pleasanter to take. Send for the 50-cent box today. Convince us by your prompt acceptance of this offer that you are writing in good faith and really desire to gain weight. The 50-cent package which we will send you free will be an eye-opener to you. We send it that you may see the simple, harmless nature of our new discovery, how easy it is to take, how you gain flesh privately without knowledge of friends or family until you astonish them by the prompt and unmistakable results. We could not publish this offer in the Evening Journal if we were not prepared to live up to it. It is only the astounding results of our new method of treatment that make such an offer and such a guarantee possible on our part. So cut off the coupon today and mail it at once to The Sargol Company, 320 W. Herald Bldg., Birmingham, N. Y., and please inclose 10c with your letter to help pay distribution expenses. Take our word you'll never regret it.

Ideal Ideas on Eatables

A SEMI-WEEKLY PUBLICATION OF SUGGESTIONS TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Published Every Tuesday and Friday in The State Journal From The Ideal Bakery, 121 West Sixth Street, Topeka, Kan.

VOL. 1. AUGUST 16. NO. 43.

BRING YOUR FRIENDS, GO THROUGH OUR PLANT.

Tomorrow is Wednesday and visitors' day, you know; so avail yourself of the opportunity to bring your out-of-town or your Topeka friends to the Ideal. This invitation is not a bluff. We want every man, woman and child in Topeka to come to the Ideal and see the way we make good things to eat. The reason we set one day in particular to show the people through the bakery each week is that on that day we do very little else but show you how and where your baking is done. Don't hesitate to ask us to show you through the establishment, from cellar to garret, from alley to entrance.

BEGIN SAVING YOUR BREAD WRAPPERS TODAY.

We will tell you in a few days why you should save the wrappers. They are valuable to you, so begin today. We are sure you feel the excellence of Weston bread is the excellence of Weston purchasing the ten-cent loaf, but there is a further inducement for you to be sure to get Weston when the wrapper itself is worth something to you. The wrapper means superiority in contents and—something else. Watch for our announcement.

COME ON, LET'S GET READY FOR THE PICNIC.

The main thing at the picnic is the lunch basket, the dinner hour and anticipation of the good things in that basket makes the forenoon pleasant, the afternoon one long joyful reminiscence. Be sure of your lunch basket.

Now, preparing that lunch according to childish dreams and grown-up expectations will be easily accomplished if you will stop in at the Ideal this evening or early tomorrow morning.

Potato chips, nice, crisp, fresh chips, for 40 cents a pound.

Roast beef, sliced just right for bread or buns, 40 cents a pound.

Fried chicken, nice, fat, clean young chickens, 35 cents for half a chick or 65 cents for the whole.

Baked chicken at 30 cents a pound.

APPLE DUMPLINGS ARE DANDY GOOD.

Especially when they are made at the Ideal Bakery in the Ideal way. Just imagine a large, juicy, luscious apple carefully cored, sealed up in a coat of rich, sweet pastry dough, smothered with sugar and seasoning, into a delightful blend of tart fruit, flavor and frosty sugar—there is nothing better. Include an apple apiece for your family or company tonight or tomorrow. They are 5 cents apiece.

HAVE YOU TRIED OUR TEA CAKES?

Made of finely flavored light pastry dough, sweetened to taste, baked in a quick oven and sprinkled with currants. They are of convenient size and just the right consistency to be served at tea parties and light luncheons. They sell at 10 cents the dozen.

THESE ARE GOOD AT HOME, AS WELL AS PICNICKING.

Now, if you are not going to the picnic tomorrow, if you are not going to any park to spend the evening and eat an evening lunch, you will want as much and maybe more to eat at home. These things enumerated above are all good, just as good at home as on the picnic grounds.

You are sure to need just as many delicacies and you want them just as appetizing and delicious at home, so come in this evening and lay in that supply.
